MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1898.

PLEASURES ON THE FARM.
Oh, the royal fun to frolic
On the fragrant new mown hay,
To roll and romp and tumble,
And to while the time away;
What a joy to lie and slumber,
Innocent of worldly care,
On the clover in the haymow,
When some other's put it there.
What a joy, when one is thirsty,
To see yet 'tis time to sup,
To consume the sweet ambrosia
That the cows have yielded up—
To drink out of the milkpail,
While you point it out to him,
When some other has extracted
The rich fluid that is there.
What a joy it is, in summer,
To be free upon the farm;
Ah, the very air seems freighted
With a mystic sort of charm;
And over all a soft melody,
Peaceful spirit seems to lurk—
That is, if you do the dreaming,
While some other does the work.

VETS IN SESSION.

Jas. A. Sexton Elected Commander-in-Chief and Philadelphia Next Encampment Site.

WELCOMED BY GOVERNOR AND MAYOR.

The Commander-in-Chief, Gen. Gobin, Delivers His Annual Address and Makes Valuable Suggestions.

Report of the Adjutant General Shows the Membership To Be 805,903—Number of Members Remaining Suspended June 30, 1909, Is 36,608.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—The opening of the thirty-second National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Music hall, at 10 a. m. Thursday, was the event of supreme interest to the veterans, involving, as it did, the question of aiding soldiers of the American-Spanish war, of the election of new officers and the selection of next year's meeting place.

The civic and industrial and peace parade was the event scheduled for the afternoon. Elaborate and painstaking arrangements assured its success and the protection of the vast crowds that lined the streets.

ALFRED LYTLE, Senior Vice Commander-in-Chief.

The women visitors got down to the more serious business of the convention, the Women's Relief corps. Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic and Daughters of Veterans gathered in solemn convocation. The fireworks will attract hundreds of thousands in the evening.

If you were without the password admission to music hall was denied Thursday morning by some grumpy veteran who acted as guard.

At first none but delegates were admitted. There were about 900 of them. Later G. A. R. men were allowed access to the gallery.

The stage was dressed in draped flags with portraits of Grant, Sheridan and Sherman.

The delegates occupied the soft, plush-cushioned seats, each state being marked with a banner made of a flag, bearing a card showing the state's name.

The delegates were seated in accordance with priority of age in the G. A. R. The oldest states in point of G. A. R. membership had seats in front. Illinois held the place of honor.

Under the stage in front, while ex-prisoners of war were allotted a space to the right and at the extreme front, Gen. Gobin started the ball rolling at the public meeting and E. R. Moffat started the waves of enthusiasm by presenting to the retiring commander-in-chief a handsome gravel.

The gravel was made of a piece of wood from the doorknob of Gen. Grant's boyhood home.

Speeches were made and then the hall was cleared of outsiders. The outcasts were called in, their work being faithfully done.

The skirmishes for candidates and contesting cities were the last to withdraw, and the grand army began the battle. The programme ordered is to select a national commander and then the city.

At 10:15 Col. J. Milt Blair opened the public preliminary meeting by introducing Gov. Bushnell. The governor welcomed the veterans, saying he had never offered a welcome more heartily felt.

"Comrades of Ohio, I welcome you to your own comrades of other states. I welcome you to the grandest commonwealth of the union," said the governor, as he closed his brief address.

Major Tafel welcomed the comrades at the city executive.

Chairman M. E. Ingrassia, of the citizens' committee, spoke gracefully of the committee that provided the week's entertainment. He referred to the promises made by him last year at Buffalo, when the encampment was invited here. When he said the time had come to decide whether they had been fulfilled loud applause rose from all parts of the house.

He reused applause by reference to the present war. He said that at the sentiment that the soldiers of the present war should be part of the G. A. R. He deprecated newspaper exposures of bad management and abuse of soldiers in the present war.

Gen. Gobin's address was full of interest. He opposed the admission of veterans of the American-Spanish war into the G. A. R. and the return of the Confederate flags.

He reports a balance in the G. A. R. treasury. The total number of pieces of mail handled by the G. A. R. office for the year just ending was 6,666,007. The number of pensioners is 1,040,903. The pensions paid during the year amounted to $144,051,879.90.

Memorial day was celebrated throughout the nation with more than usual enthusiasm and interest.

"Patriotic teachings in the public schools have progressed favorably. Military drill having been added, it has become a remarkably popular feature in many of the public schools of the land."

"The question of the suspension of comrades for non-payment of dues is rapidly becoming a matter of justice to those who can not afford to pay their dues without doing great injustice to the poor in the class of those who can afford to pay them but simply neglect to do so. My observation is that a large percentage of the men who are suspended for non-payment of dues are as fairly able to pay as a large number of those who remain and continue to pay."

"I confide to you again the important duty yet to be accomplished in this organization. It is rapidly moving to the sunset, and ere many years it will be a memory—but such a memory of brave men united for love of country and devoted to their fellow men, as we wish all history's page for succeeding generations with a record that is imperishable. With our life's work almost completed we can lay aside the many which we have so far achieved, and as soldiers and citizens we have been true to our faith, devoted to our country and flag, and confident in the ability of the American people to govern themselves and defy the world. As we behold the nation that we preserved as a union of all the states, facing new problems, we have no doubt of our capabilities, let us unite with all the ardor and zeal which we brought with us from Appomattox in every effort to uphold the flag and advance the government."

The report of the adjutant general, Thomas J. Stewart, contained the following figures as to the membership:

The members in good standing June 30, 1909, numbered 805,903. The gain during the year was, by muster, 10,940; transfer, 4,375; reinstatement, 12,657; from delinquent reports, 4,551; total, 32,453. The losses were by death, 7,539; honorable discharge, 1,100; transfer, 4,471; suspension, 35,033; dishonorable discharge, 145; by delinquent reports, 7,041; by surrender of charter, 1,023; total, 48,388. So the members in good standing June 30, 1909, numbered, 805,903. The number of members remaining suspended at that date was 36,608.

Reports and from that date showed that 8,610 members previously reported as suspended had been dropped from the rolls.

In his report Alfred Lytle, the senior vice commander-in-chief, referred to the visit of Post 2, department of New York, to Hamilton, Ont., saying that the cheers which greeted the comrades on arrival and the reception on the part of the citizens of Hamilton were illustrations of the recent drawing together in sympathy and feeling of the two great English speaking nations.

monument fund, $5,777; Sherman monument fund, $205; Southern memorial fund, $14.40.

The assets, including the cash on hand are $11,093, and in addition $16,000 are invested in United States bonds.

The only candidates nominated for commander-in-chief were Albert D. Shaw, of Watertown, N. Y., and James A. Sexton, of Chicago, Ill.

Commander Paghi, of Ohio, announced that Isaac F. Maak, of Ohio, had directed him to say that he declined to have his name presented as a candidate, because the senior vice commander was to be chosen from the city where the encampment is held, according to custom.

A delegate from Kansas explained the name of Thomas J. Anderson, of Topeka, Kas., which had been mentioned as a candidate would not be presented to the encampment. The roll of states was then called and the vote was announced, showing the election of James A. Sexton, who received 454 votes, while Albert D. Shaw received 241. Comrade Shaw, in a well-worded speech, moved the unanimous election of Sexton as president, the motion was carried. Sexton, being called, returned his thanks in very brief form and the encampment immediately adjourned until 9 o'clock Friday.

The contest among the cities for the next encampment was one of the most exciting of the day's features, and although one ballot settled it very effectively, the various champions of various cities were claiming every right in sight up to the very end. Philadelphia and Denver were the two most prominent aspirants for the honor of entertaining the soldiers, and Chicago had a nice little boom of her own that was used as a lever to secure votes for Sexton as commander. The vote was: Philadelphia, 393; Denver, 295.

ALGER'S REQUEST.

He Asks for a Thorough and Searching Investigation of the War Department.

GEN. CORBIN MAKES SAME REQUEST.

No Decision Has Been Reached by the President as to What Course He Will Pursue.

The Question Will Probably Be Considered at the Cabinet Meeting—Should an Investigation Be Ordered It Will Exclude All Matters Relating to War.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The tension over Gen. Miles' criticism of army methods is gradually subsiding, and in official quarters the belief was expressed Thursday night that no official attention would be paid to the criticisms. In view of much loose conjecture over the imminence of a court-martial or court of inquiry for the trial of Gen. Miles, it can be stated positively that those in authority have not up to the present time determined upon any such course of action, nor have they felt that such steps would be conducive to the best interests of the public service.

In some high official quarters there is a disposition to look upon Gen. Miles as being his own worst enemy, and to pass over his comments as ill-advised, though not to the extent of constituting insubordination, or warranting official action by the president or war department.

Secretary Alger has requested the president to order a thorough and searching investigation of the war department. In this request the secretary has been joined by Gen. Corbin. No decision has been reached yet by the president as to what course he will pursue. He has the request of Secretary Alger under consideration, but has not yet determined whether he will grant it or not.

Secretary Alger had a long conference with the president Thursday night before leaving the city and impressed upon him his earnest desire that an investigation such as he had requested be conducted. The question was very thoroughly discussed in all of its phases. Secretary Wilson participated in the conference and Gen. Corbin was present during a greater part of the time.

It seems now not unlikely that the investigation will be ordered, but it is the wish of the president to further consider the matter before announcing a definite policy.

The question probably will receive consideration at the cabinet meeting Friday. While all of the members of the cabinet are not in the city, Secretary Alger and Long and Attorney General Griggs being among those who will not be present at Friday's meeting, it is said to be the wish of the president to take up the whole subject with those of his advisers who may be there.

Should the investigation be ordered, it will include, probably, all matters relating to the conduct of the war, so far as they concern the war department. Secretary Alger expresses himself as confident that such an investigation, if conducted promptly and thoroughly, will result in much good.

Such an investigation has been requested, it is pointed out, because of some difficulties. No charges of a definite character have been filed by any responsible person or official. Sensational stories and rumors for which the administration has present knowledge that there is no foundation have been circulated and objection is made to dignifying them by the ordering of an investigation. By those who desire and advocate the investigation it is contended it can do no possible harm and may be of positive benefit in clearing away manifest error from the minds of many people and in placing the blame, if any is to be placed, where it rightfully belongs.

Spaniards Throwing Away Their Arms.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—No official information has been received at the war department concerning the reports that the Spaniards are throwing their arms into the harbor at San Juan, P. R., although it would not be unexpected. It is said that until the commissioners report or come to some agreement regarding the arms in Porto Rico and in the hands of the Spanish forces in that territory, in Cuba and in the United States has no authority over them.
